

Contents of Hume's Treatise of Human Nature, Book III: Morals

Part i: Virtue and vice in general

- 1: Moral distinctions aren't derived from reason..... 216
- 2: Moral distinctions are derived from a moral sense ..... 223

Part ii: Justice and injustice

- 1. Is justice a natural or an artificial virtue?..... 226
- 2. The origin of justice and property..... 231
- 3. The rules that settle who owns what..... 239
- 4. The transference of property by consent ..... 245
- 5. The obligation of promises ..... 246
- 6. Further thoughts about justice and injustice ..... 251
- 7. The origin of government ..... 254
- 8. The source of allegiance..... 257
- 9. The measures of allegiance..... 262
- 10. The objects of allegiance ..... 264
- 11. The laws of nations ..... 270
- 12. Chastity and modesty ..... 272

Part iii: The other virtues and vices

- 1. The origin of the natural virtues and vices ..... 274
- 2. Greatness of mind ..... 283
- 3. Goodness and benevolence..... 288
- 4. Natural abilities ..... 290
- 5. Further thoughts about the natural virtues ..... 294
- 6. Conclusion of this book..... 296