

THEOLOGY AND POLITICS

CONTENTS

Preface .....	1
Chapter 1: Prophecy.....	7
Chapter 2: The prophets .....	16
Chapter 3: The calling of the Hebrews. Was the gift of prophecy exclusive to them? .....	25
Chapter 4: The divine law .....	32
*Chapter 5: Ceremonies. Faith in historical narratives - who needs it, and why?
Chapter 6: Miracles .....	41
Chapter 7: The interpretation of Scripture.....	50
*Chapter 8: The first twelve Books in the Old Testament - who wrote them?
*Chapter 9: Other questions concerning those same Books
*Chapter 10: The remaining Books of the Old Testament examined in the same way. . . .
*Chapter 11: The role of the apostles
Chapter12: The true original text of the divine law. Why Scripture can be called ‘sacred’ and ‘the word of God’. Scripture as containing the word of God has reached us uncorrupted.....	63
Chapter 13: Scripture teaches only the simplest matters, aims only at obedience, and teaches nothing about God’s nature except what men can imitate by how they live.....	69
Chapter 14: What is faith? Who are the faithful? Settling the foundations of faith, and separating it from philosophy .....	73
Chapter 15: Theology and reason: neither should be the handmaid of the other. Why we are convinced of Scripture’s authority .....	78
Chapter 16: The foundations of the state, the natural and civil right of each person, and the right of the supreme powers .....	83
Chapter 17: No-one can, or needs to, transfer everything to the supreme power. The Hebrew State before they elected Kings; its superiority. Why the divine State could perish, and could hardly survive without rebellions. ....	93
Chapter 18: Inferring political tenets from the Hebrew State and its history .....	106
Chapter 19: The supreme civil authority is sovereign in all sacred matters. If we want to obey God rightly, external religious practices must be adapted to the peace of the State. ....	111
Chapter 20: In a free State everyone is permitted to think what he likes and to say what he thinks .....	116

* Not included in this version